CHANDLER BEGS FOR PEACE.

IMPORTUNING COL. TAPPAN TO FORGET

The Result of Tappun's Threat to Expos his Record-New Passes of the Senatorial Contest-Stevens and Patterson Withdraw and Pike and Burns Enter the Race.

CONCORD, July 25 .- The clouds have burst to-day. It is now the common talk that a Senator is likely to be chosen very soon. The Cheshire county delegation this morning de-cided not to go for Pike to-day, but will do so to-morrow. The Senate met, and every Re-publican en spr one agreed to support United States Attor, ey Burns. Chandler was not long in hearing of it, and he advised his supporters under no circumstances to keep their promise, and they had to back out. Barns was a dele-gate to the National Convention in 1876, and, with Daniel Hall and ex-Governor

Stearns, voted for Bristow against Blaine, Chandler said at the time that he would re member it, and he is doing so now; but Burns momber it, and he is doing so now; but Burns and Pike both had strong votes in to-day's Convention, and the Legiclature is evidently in the mood to take up some anti-machine man and elect him. So strong is the feeling that something must be done that a conference of all the Bopublicans has been called for to-morrow morning to talk the situation over. The Marston men will not go into the conference, and in will not be binding any way. No important results are expected, as Chandler Sticks. As long as in doos that no eaction can take place. His men, however, are growing ancaey, and will be six for long the way and of the same. These will give Pike over lifty votes to-morrow. Excogression followers voted to angh, with the consetting and Briggs says that we things are going. Marston's chances improve every day, but the Pike over lifty votes to-morrow. Excogression of the seesand; winners und maids and allowing a likely a man as has been brought out. He is is years old, has been state Semark, only good hawyer and clean man, but he does not belong to the Bong, and will be simulatered in that account. This Pike seems on election this week and H. and B. Bellins and election this week and H. and the congressman election this week and the congressman election this week and H. and the congress of at his room lest evening. The conversation hasted two hours. Chand'er peknowledged that he had heard of Tappan's threat, and said that he was in a position whore he could not afford to have any more lights on his hands. He owned up to having freated Tappan unfairly, and asked him to lot the old quarrels be forgotten and amicable relations take their place. Tappan understood perfectly well that this desire for compromise was inspired only by fear, and at first would not yield to Chandler's importunities. He finally acquieeced in Chandler's importunities. He finally acquieeced in Chandler's request that hereafter they should speak to onch other, but he is propared at any time for an attack in the dark from Chandler. The latter's plea to Tappan, taken, with the way in which he has heretofore abused him, is only once of the pumerous signs that Chandler appreciates his steady less of influence since his arrival here three weeks ago.

George H. Chandler, brother of the Secretary, was attacked with rheamatism of the chest last night while at his brother's home in Boscawen. Doctors were scat from this city, who report that the next return of the pang will be faint. The Secretary has mone to see him. He is 45 years old, and a graduate of Partmouth in 1860. binff on the Canadian side. A second later he dived or sank and was seen no more. There were very few who witnessed the tragic disappearance, as the passage was completed in an almost incomprehensibly brief period. Mr. Kyle and a few others were on the banks of the whiripool below the cliffs, but they waited and watched in vain for the foolbardy victim of the perilous and, as it doubtiess proved, fatal venture to reappear. There can be very little doubt that he was drawn down into one of the powerful eddies or under currents, or into the down-swirl of the central whiripool, and was too exhausted to struggle from the deadly embrace. Two indies and an enterprising Canadian reporter aver that they saw him fairly in the current of the whiripool, but the general testimony is that he did not appear above the surface after he sank or dived at the mouth of the macistrom.

Unavailing Search for the Body. NIAGARA FALLS, July 25 .- In all human probability Capt, Matthew Webb was drowned in the whiripool. He was last seen as he passed through the lower end of the rapids at 4:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon, just as he was entering the whiripool. Capt, Webb's agent, Mr. Kyle, returned to the hotel last night and gave up all hope. Up to 2 o'clock this afternoon no further trace of Capt, Webb had been found, and as he was probably drawn down in the whiripool, his body will not appear on the surface for five or six days.

Bosros, July 25.—Just before he left this city to go to Niagara, Capt. Webb made arrangements to have the result of his attempt telegraphed to his wife at Hull just as soon as he came out of the water, to relieve her anxiety. Webb and his family, say that nearly the whole of the day before he started for Niagara his wife walked the piazza with him, apparently pleading with him not to undertake the terrible task. The bull turned upon Masker, and, striking him with his head, knocked him down and thrust him under the manger, where he continued his attacks on him for several minutes. The other attendants who witnessed the attack finally got the bull away from the wounded man and drove him into the yard.

It was found that while the bull had falled to touch Masker with his ample horns he had mashed the man's head against a nasi, and the nail had penetrated his temple, inflicting a fatal wound. The bull had also so bruised and crushed his chest that he breathed with extended difficulty. Masker died at mon without having reanined consciousness. He leaves a widow and three children. He was 55 years old. The bull was a prize winner at the last fair of the State Agricultural Society, and his value is placed in the thousands.
